

STIMSON CHOICE
OF REPUBLICANSNominated for Governor of
New York State.

ROOSEVELT FORCES VICTORS

Defeat the Old Guard at Every Turn in the Convention at Saratoga.

Platform Contains a Direct Nominations Plank That Was Drawn by the Progressives—Woodruff's Retirement as Chairman of State Committee Predicted.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The Republican state convention adjourned after nominating a ticket dictated by Theodore Roosevelt and his so-called progressive adherents and adopting a platform with a direct nominations plank drawn by the progressives. The old guard met defeat utterly.

Henry L. Stimson was nominated for governor. He drew public attention as the prosecutor of the sugar trust.

Representative William S. Bennet made a hard fight and received only 242 votes, against 684 for Mr. Stimson.

The remainder of the state ticket follows:

Lieutenant governor, Edward Schoenck.

Secretary of state, Samuel S. Koenig (renominated).

State controller, James Thompson.

State treasurer, Thomas F. Fennell.

State engineer, Frank M. Williams (renominated).

Attorney general, Edward R. O'Malley (renominated).

Associate judge of the court of appeals, Irving G. Vann (renominated).

The vote for governor stood as follows:

Henry L. Stimson, 684; William S. Bennet of New York, 242; Thomas B. Dunn of Rochester, 38; James B. McEwan of Albany, 38; scattering, 23.

Slate Went Through.

The slate as made up by Colonel Roosevelt, Senator Root and their advisers went through without a hitch. With the exception of the nominations for governor and controller there were no contests.

Representative Bennet, who had been conducting the only open campaign for the nomination for governor, kept up the fight to the end, and his persistence and his strength with the New York delegation threatened to break the slate.

Colonel Roosevelt said that he would take the stump in the campaign. He said that he would try to speak in every county in the state, although he would not cancel his Southern trip, which begins on Thursday of next week, or his trip to Iowa early in November.

At the close of the convention James S. Wadsworth, Jr., speaker of the assembly, announced his withdrawal from the legislature, due to his personal views as to the length of time during which a member of the assembly should be a candidate for speaker, and, if successful, hold that important and difficult office. He has been speaker five years.

Mr. Wadsworth would not say that his retirement was due to the victory of the progressives in the convention. The close of the convention found the Roosevelt forces in complete mastery of the situation. It was the election of Colonel Roosevelt as temporary chairman over Vice President Sherman which decided the issue between the colonel and the organization, but the old guard kept up its fight grimly until the end.

Following the first rout of the organization came Colonel Roosevelt's dramatic and successful battle for the adoption of the platform of the progressives and his final nomination of Mr. Stimson.

Strength Badly Dissipated.

By the time the vote was taken the strength of the organization had been dissipated badly. Having no candidate for whom to make a determined fight it threw the bulk of its vote to Mr. Bennet. As a rule the voting on the gubernatorial candidates followed the same division between progressives and the "old guard" as the vote for temporary chairman.

On the vote for state controller Thompson received substantially the full progressive strength, in addition to about half of the old guard forces. Mr. Thompson was opposed by Senator John B. Kissell.

When Nassau county was reached in the roll call Colonel Roosevelt took the platform and nominated Henry L. Stimson of New York for governor.

Colonel Roosevelt was warmly applauded as he concluded.

Just before the convention came to an end the new state committee was announced. The list contained several new names and it was assumed that the progressives would control, turning over to the Roosevelt forces the party machinery of the state. Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, who failed of reelection in his own district, was elected from the Second district. The election of a chairman from the progressives in place of Mr. Woodruff is expected.

It is customary to hold a meeting of the state committee for the election of a chairman directly after the state convention adjourns. Chairman Root announced, however, that no such meeting would be held.

understood this situation arose on account of the fact that no agreement had been reached as to the new chairman. Lloyd C. Griscom and Cornelius V. Collins both have declined to serve.

The direct nominations plank as adopted follows:

"To Governor Hughes is due the credit of arousing the interest of the people and convincing them of the need of directly electing their party officers and directly nominating their party candidates. We promise legislation which will enact these principles into law.

"We appeal with confidence to the intelligence and patriotism of the people for the endorsement of this platform and the election of the candidates of this convention."

Colonel Roosevelt in a brief statement denied the existence of any alliance with W. R. Hearst of having influenced the selection of the ticket.

An Experience at Hull House.

Even death itself sometimes fails to bring the dignity and serenity which one would fain associate with old age. I recall the dying hour of one old Scotchwoman whose long struggle to "keep respectable" had so embittered her that her last words were gibes for those who were trying to minister to her.

"So you came in yourself this morning, did you? You only sent things yesterday. I guess you knew when the doctor was coming. Don't try to warm my feet with anything but that old jacket that I've got there; it belonged to my boy who was drowned at sea nearly thirty years ago, but it's warmer yet with human feelings than any of your confounded charity hot water bottles." Suddenly the harsh gasping voice was stilled in death, and I awaited the doctor's coming, shaken and horrified.—Jane Addams in American Magazine

Empty Titles.

William Jennings Bryan once joked about our American fondness for titles.

"You all know of the colonel," he said, "who got his title by inheritance, having married Colonel Brown's widow? But I once met a general who got his title neither by inheritance, nor by service, nor by anything you could mention."

"General," I said to him, "how do you come by this title of yours, anyway?"

"Why, sir," said he, "I passed my youth in the flour trade and for twenty-seven years was a general miller."

"I know another titled man, Judge Greene."

"Are you, sir," I once asked him, "a United States judge or a circuit court judge?"

"I ain't neither," he replied. "I'm a judge of boss racism."

Fear.

Fear causes more disease than do microbes, more deaths than famine, more failures than panics. It costs more than war, is always a failure and is never necessary, said a medical man. Fear weakens the heart's action, induces congestion, invites indigestion, produces poison through decomposing foods and is thus the mother of auto-poisoning, which either directly causes or greatly aids in the production of quite 90 per cent of all our diseases.

Simplified Spelling.

"Why do you take Elmore away from school, Aunt Mahaly?" a lady asked her cook one day. Aunt Mahaly sniffed scornfully.

"Cause de teacher ain't satisfactory tuh me, Mis' Mally. What you reckon she tell dat chile yistdy? She 'low dat IV spell four when even a 'idjut 'ud know dat it spells ivy."

The Kickless Dog.

"I wonder why so many people insist on keeping dogs that are no good?"

"Well," replied the proprietor of the village hotel, "I always keep a few dogs because it's a comfort to see 'em take their meals regular without kicking, even if they don't pay any board."

A Great Secret.

Old Bachelor Uncle—Well, Charlie, what do you want now?

Charlie—Oh, I want to be rich.

"Rich? Why so?"

"Because I want to be petted. Ma says you are an old fool, but must be petted because you are rich. But it's a great secret, and I musn't tell it."

Every time a man comes across a lot of old clothes in the house he searches the pockets, though he never finds anything.

French Servants' Characters.

It is an unwritten law in France that you must never say anything bad about a servant or employee in his "character"—that is to say, if you cannot say anything good you must content yourself with a noncommittal statement which will not compromise his prospects.

For instance, if you have caught your cook robbing you in such a shameful and impudent fashion that you are obliged to dismiss her you may not state on her "certificate" that you have dismissed her for services because you found she was dishonest. That, it is held, might prevent her obtaining a situation elsewhere, and as every one has to earn his bread the cook must be given the opportunity of recommending her larceny elsewhere.

That you are entitled to say on her "character" if you will not lie and pay her compliments is that she entered and left your service on certain dates.

Irish Raise Big Sum.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The fifth biennial national convention of the United Irish league has closed. A recommendation by the committee on ways and means that $100,000 be subscribed to the work of the Irish parliamentary party for the next two years was raised to $150,000 by the committee on resolutions, adopted as the amount paid or pledged.

Snow Falls in Black Hills.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 29.—Accompanied by below freezing temperature, a snowstorm during which over an inch fell, apparently wound up the summer weather in the Black Hills and brought out winter clothing, but with the passing of the storm, warm weather appeared. A September snow storm has become an annual event here.

Costly Fire in Tannery.

Milwaukee, Sept. 29.—The patent leather department of the Albert Trostel & Sons Tanning company was destroyed by fire. The loss is $125,000.

PLATFORM IGNORES
PRESIDENT TAFTThat of Wisconsin Republicans Is Advanced Progressive.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—Wisconsin Republicans, in convention, were presented with a platform embodying the widest possible expression of progressive principles as advocated by Robert M. La Follette. After paying tribute to Senator La Follette and the progressive Republicans from Wisconsin in congress the platform praises the Republican party as the agency which is restoring representative government to the people. President Taft is ignored. On patronage the platform reads:

"Wisconsin is to be congratulated upon having representatives in the senate and house who remained true to the people and to the national platform of the party, notwithstanding the efforts to punish them for so doing by withdrawal of federal patronage."

Tariff Law Condemned.

The Payne-Aldrich tariff law is severely condemned and the platform asks for a nonpartisan tariff commission, from whose investigations congress shall proceed to revise schedules one by one as demanded. Amendment of the postal savings bank law is recommended, to the end that depositors be placed within easy reach of depositors to prevent concentration of funds in large financial centers. Physical valuation of railroads is recommended and a subordinate board of the interstate commerce commission is asked to relieve the commission of part of its burden.

The platform favors public control of corporate monopoly, favors the most complete liberty of organization for farmers and wage earners; favors federal ownership of Alaskan transportation lines; opposes ship subsidy; favors election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; pledges Republican members of the legislature to vote for Senator R. M. La Follette to succeed himself and declares the primary nomination, when free from fraud, morally binding on legislators.

Wisconsin progressive legislation, including primary elections, ad valorem taxation of railroads, anti-lobby legislation, railroad regulation, forestry conservation, insurance regulation, protection for workers in hazardous occupations, regulation of child labor, prevention of food valuation and public health regulation, is endorsed.

South Dakota Brewer Killed.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 29.—While attempting to step out of the way of one auto, Claus Grotzky, a brewer employed at Central City, near here, was instantly killed by another auto driven by Charles Miller of this place at Spearfish. Grotzky was attending the Lawrence county fair when the accident occurred. Miller gave himself into custody at once.

AFTER LORIMER WAS ELECTEDState Senator Holtzlaw Received $2,500.

WAS NOT OFFERED ANYTHING

But Was Told That There Was Twenty-five Hundred Dollars in It for Him if He Voted for Lorimer—Witness Declares That Was How He Had Intended to Vote Before He Learned of the Money in It.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—State Senator D. W. Holtzlaw of Iuka, Ill., one of the fifty-three Democrats who voted for Senator William Lorimer, on the witness stand before the Lorimer investigating committee testified that after he had voted for Senator Lorimer he received $2,500, and that he "supposed the money was paid because of his vote." The state senator, who until recently was a banker in his home town and had some prominence in the Baptist denomination, was the second witness who has been heard by the committee and the second legislator to tell the United States senators who are inquiring into the Lorimer election that money was paid because of a vote for the junior senator from Illinois.

There were few preliminary questions asked by Attorney Austrian before the receipt of $2,500 by Senator Holtzlaw was admitted by the witness. After stating his name, occupation and the position he held as a state senator and that he voted for Senator Lorimer, Senator Holtzlaw, in response to a question, "Was anything said about payment for your vote for Senator Lorimer?" said:

Money in It for Him.

"The night before the election of Senator Lorimer I met State Senator John Broderick outside the St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield and he said to me, 'They are going to elect Lorimer tomorrow.' I replied, 'Yes, I think so, and I am going to vote for him.' He replied, 'Well, there is $2,500 in it for you.' That was all there was said. I intended to vote for Lorimer anyway, and had made up my mind three or four days before to that and I did not know there was a thing in it for me."

"Were you offered anything?" was asked, and the witness replied:

"He did not offer me anything, and simply said there was $2,500 in it for me."

Senator Holtzlaw said that he supposed the money was paid for his vote for Lorimer.

Senator James B. Frazier (Dem.) of Tennessee, who joined his colleagues on the committee, questioned the witness at some length.

The witness declared that he had had no other conversation with Senator Broderick relative to the senatorial vote, and that he went to Chicago to see Broderick in response to a letter, the substance of which was a request from Broderick that he, Holtzlaw, meet him in his office.

"Did Broderick owe you anything?" asked Senator Frazier.

"No," was the reply, and the same monosyllabic negative was the witness' reply to the further questions, "Did you have any claim upon him?" and "Was there any reason other than your conversation before the election for the payment?"

On cross-examination Attorney Haney brought out that Holtzlaw had told many persons prior to the Lorimer election that he had made up his mind to vote for Senator Lorimer. Holtzlaw did not remember all the names mentioned by the attorney, but admitted that he had made no secret of his intention to vote for Lorimer.

ONE KILLED AND THREE HURT

Stock Train Collides With Work Train Near Cannon Junction, Minn.

Red Wing, Minn., Sept. 29.—One man was instantly killed and three injured in a train crash on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, half a mile north of Cannon Junction when a stock train, eastbound, made up of thirty-seven cars, collided with a work train running east from Hastings.

Mike Mulcahy, fireman of the work train, was hurled several feet. His skull was crushed in the impact with the rails. Death was instantaneous. Nick Reedy and John Caska, members of the train crew, suffered painful bruises. The former's left leg was badly cut. Fireman R. P. Henry of Minneapolis, who saw the approaching danger, jumped from the cab and suffered a sprained ankle. W. J. Rudy of Minneapolis, engineer of the stock train, and Emil Rogowski, engineer of the work train, escaped injury by jumping before the crash.

Thirty cars of sheep and seven cars of merchandise made up the stock train. While badly shaken up, none of the live stock was injured. When the collision occurred the stock train was running at the rate of fifteen miles an hour.

The work train was picking up rails and was being operated at a slow speed. The crash came at a sharp curve. Several cars presented a tangled mass of steel and timber. The roadbed for a distance of 300 feet is badly torn up.

MANY TOPICS OF INTEREST

Discussed by the Club Women of Minnesota.

St. Peter, Minn., Sept. 29.—Delegates to the sixteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's clubs, in session here, unite in asserting that this is one of the most successful of all the sessions heretofore held, both as to attendance and interesting topics of state and even nationwide interest that are being considered.

Most of the real work of the convention will be finished by tonight and the convention will close with a short session Friday morning of the council and an executive board meeting.

Features of the day's sessions were papers by Miss Josephine Schain of Minneapolis on "Dangers of the Messenger Service," a conference with Mrs. Fannie French Morse of the Red Wing training school, in which an investigation of the boys' school was asked, and the reading of a paper on "Social Hygiene," by Dr. (Mrs.) F. L. S. Aldrich of Minneapolis.

POLICE OF BERLIN
CHARGE WORKMEN

Hundreds of People Injured During Riots.

Berlin, Sept. 29.—"Suppress disturbances without mercy," were Police Commissioner von Jagow's orders. The police followed out their instructions to the letter. They rode down and sabered mercilessly wherever a small group of people had gathered in the district of Moabit.

For two days this district has been the scenes of riots the like of which have not been witnessed in Berlin for many a day. Hundreds of persons have been injured and veritable pitched battles between strikers, their sympathizers and the police have occurred at every street corner and open place in the Moabit precinct.

The result of the severe repressive measures taken by the police was that scores of persons were bruised or wounded during the evening. The correspondents of Reuter's Telegram company, the New York Times, the New York World and the New York Sun were among the victims while watching the progress of the events from a motor car. The police swept down upon them with drawn sabers, apparently without provocation. The Reuter representative was wounded severely in both hands, while the other correspondents were badly bruised.

From 5 o'clock in the evening every saloon in the locality was closed by orders of the authorities. Orders also were given that windows of houses must remain closed, otherwise the police would fire, whether with or without provocation.

In spite of the strictness with which the cordons were maintained the strikers and their sympathizers held meetings at the street corners, which in several instances caused bloody fights. The police charged furiously and beat down the workmen on every side.

SENSATIONAL STORY IS TOLD

GOVERNMENT BRINGS SUIT

Seeks to Recover Money for a Sioux Indian.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 29.—Edward B. Kelley, former United States Indian agent at Rosebud agency; E. J. Debell, who at one time was Indian trader at Rosebud; E. W. Curtis, who was in the employ of Debell; H. Butterfield of Madison county, Neb.; Harm Johnson of Meyer county, S. D., and John Moritz of Plymouth county, Ia., have been made defendants in an action which has been instituted in the United States court by the government.

Early next week United States Attorney Wagner will go to Rosebud agency for the purpose of taking the depositions of certain Indians. The suit was instituted for the purpose of recovering money alleged to belong to High Star, a Brule Indian whose home is on the Rosebud reservation. The defendants are charged with having defrauded High Star out of a tract of land, containing 638 acres. It is alleged that after High Star had been granted a patent to the land the defendants, or some of them, induced him to go before Debell, who was a notary public, and execute a deed to the tract by which he conveyed the land to Curtis for $4,000.

The government contends that High Star was not competent to judge the value of the land which he had secured patent for. Curtis subsequently sold the land to Butterfield for $10,000, and the latter sold half of it to Moritz for $8,960. The government contends that the land was worth $10,000 and seeks to recover this sum from the defendants in behalf of High Star. The defendants contend that High Star was fully competent to transfer the land and that he was paid all the land was worth.

Sioux Indians Arrested.

McIntosh, S. D., Sept. 29.—John Brown of Little Eagle and Charles Red Bird, an Indian of the Cheyenne reservation, were arrested for bringing intoxicating liquors from Lemmon upon the reservation. They were bound over to the next term of federal court in the sum of $500 each. Being unable to furnish bail they are now in jail at Aberdeen.

Bucharest.

The population of Bucharest is about 300,000. The houses are mostly of one or two stories in the residential section and built separately with a great deal of open space. The city is very widespread and covers an area of about twenty-five square miles.

Former President of a Car Repair Company Testifies.

INSIDE WORKINGS REVEALED

Henry C. Ostermann Says His Company Gave Stock to Former Officials of the Illinois Central Railroad—Ira C. Rawn Alleged to Have Been One of the Chief Figures in the Alleged Graft Ring.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Henry C. Ostermann, former president of the Ostermann Manufacturing company, who is said to have been a big factor in the Illinois Central railroad car repair frauds, related a sensational story of the inside workings of his concern before Municipal Judge Bruggemeyer.

Ostermann was called as a witness for the prosecution in the conspiracy hearing against Frank B. Harriman, Charles L. Ewing and John M. Taylor, former Illinois Central officials, who are charged with participating in extensive car repair swindles.

The testimony not alone involved the names of the three men now on trial, but extended to a dozen others who occupied positions of trust with the railroad company during the time that the repair frauds were conceived and executed.

The late Ira C. Rawn, former president of the Monon railroad, who was mysteriously shot to death at his Winnetka, Ill., summer residence last July, was named by Ostermann as one of the chief figures in the alleged graft ring.

Ostermann declared that as vice president of the Illinois Central railroad Rawn was given 1,500 shares of stock in the Ostermann Manufacturing company, and that this was increased to 2,700 shares. He said that Rawn sold this stock to the manufacturing company at par, $5 a share.

After Rawn had sold back his holdings of stock in the car repair company for $13,500, the witness testified, the former Illinois Central vice president demanded and got first $5, then $10 and finally $15 for each car repaired or alleged to have been repaired at the Ostermann plant. In this connection Ostermann testified that he personally made one payment of $10,500 to Rawn, which he said was for 700 cars upon which the repair concern had collected bills for repairs.

Paid for Every Car.

The witness said that Rawn received $15 a car during the first six months of the year 1909. This was during the last six months that Ostermann was connected with the repair company.

According to Ostermann three distinct kinds of payments were made in the passing of this alleged graft. In addition to the payment per car as to Rawn, said Ostermann, a fixed monthly sum was paid certain officials and a 2 per cent per month dividend was paid on all Ostermann Manufacturing company stock held by Illinois Central officers. This stock dividend, amounting to 24 per cent per year, was paid on several large blocks of Ostermann company stock, said Ostermann.

"What Illinois Central officials held stock in your company?" Ostermann was asked by Attorney Fisher.

"Ira G. Rawn had 2,700 shares, Frank B. Harriman had 2,200 shares, John M. Taylor had, first, 1,000 and then 5,000 shares, Joseph E. Buker had 2,200 shares, William Renshaw had 1,500 shares and W. J. Taylor had 500 shares. S. P. and Mildred Harriman had 100 shares each, but I do not know who they are or whether they were connected with the Illinois Central company. Their stock was bought and paid for by Frank B. Harriman."

"What officers of the railroad company received monthly payments from your concern and in what amount?" Ostermann was asked by counsel for the prosecution.

"Frank B. Harriman received $1,000 monthly; Joseph E. Buker also got $1,000 monthly; William Renshaw was paid $500 monthly; W. J. Leahy, $100; H. M. Dunlap, $100; R. G. Ransom, $25; John Waters, $25; Matthew Morgan, $25, and F. A. Jones got $100 on at least one occasion that I know of personally."

CALL TO ARMS

Cass Lake Citizens Ready to Fight for Their Booze if Necessary to Protect the Same

The Cass Lake newspapers sound the alarm and raise a great protest over the action of the government agents in the recent government saloon order, and the Times issues a "call to arms" in the following manner:

"Ever since the appearance among us of the special agents of the United States Indian department, our people, anxious to be law-abiding, have stood almost awe-stricken in contemplating the atrocious acts of agents and most of us have been 'cowed' with fear when the name of the United States has been mentioned in connection with the acts of a few marauders who have assumed control without any warrant of law.

"That period of inactivity and fear has passed and our citizens have at last been aroused from the lethargic condition prevailing for many months and are now ready and willing to fight for their liberty as they did when King George imposed unbearable conditions upon them.

"Our people are now ready for the contest; if it becomes necessary to bear arms to protect ourselves and our liberties, every citizen will embrace the privilege which the constitutions of the United States and the state vouchsafe us.

"We are tired of being overridden by a gang of cowboy toughs at the direction of the sub-department of the interior; we have rights and we know what they are and will maintain them even if we have to fight for them."

Justice Ives, in his call upon the governor for aid, tells of the recent raids made by the Indian agents and states plainly that unless the governor interferes bloodshed must result in northern Minnesota. He pleads with the governor to put the question up to the attorney general of the United States as to whether the state or the department of the interior is in control of northern Minnesota.

So serious has become the situation at Cass Lake that Special Inspector Gentilly of Ashland, Wis., is there investigating the recent trouble with charges of assault brought by A. A. Oliver of Walker, after his grip had been searched for contraband liquor. Mr. Gentilly comes under orders from William E. Johnson, chief special agent of the Indian department, with headquarters at Denver.

Mr. Gentilly will personally inspect conditions in all of the affected northern towns and make a report in person to Mr. Johnson.

The present crisis is brought about by the government mandate prohibiting the sale of liquor, under an old treaty in certain places of the restricted territory.

A Scarcity of Water

A telegram from Red Lake Falls to the Duluth Herald relates a serious condition and says that the Red Lake river has fallen so low that the electric power is shut off all the time and the street lights cannot be used evenings. Several concerns that use electric power are put to much inconvenience as a result and gasoline engines are in demand for the time being. The Red Lake river is the only outlet of the great Red Lakes drainage basin, covering many thousands of miles of wooded territory in Beltrami county, but in spite of this fact and also that this section is cedar and spruce swamp, very little water seeps through into the lakes and the river. The latter has dwindled down to a mere creek and can be waded in many places. The boats have ceased running and the log drives are hung up for good, or until heavy rains occur.

Odd Cures For Seasickness.

Among curious remedies for seasickness is that which is popular among the mariners in the Levant—the daily swallowing of iron rust, which is obtained by the simple process of scraping it off the anchor or anchor chain. But this is only part of the treatment, for a small pouch containing roasted salt and flowers of thyme must be tied upon the abdomen as firmly as can be borne. This being considered to counteract the effect of the internal disturbance caused by the rolling of the vessel. Known to the ancient Greeks as "thyman salt," the preparation has at least the authority of old age, while its efficacy is not without modern testimony. And the belt is better than salt and faith better than the belt.

SMART HAS REPORT

The First Decisive Step in the Settlement of the Vexatious Light Question Taken When Messrs. Mahlum and Dunn go on Record Favoring Crow Wing

The Water and Light board met last night and all the members were present. Secretary William Nelson was in attendance.

President M. T. Dunn stated the object of the meeting was to provide for street lighting and getting power.

On motion the secretary was instructed to write the consulting engineer, Oscar Claussen, of St. Paul, and ask him for an opinion as to what system of street lights he would recommend the city should install in the residence portion.

On motion the secretary was instructed to write to Prof. F. H. Bass, of the University of Minnesota, a member of the state board of health, and ask him to furnish plans and estimates of cost of a disinfecting plant. The board discussed this matter thoroughly as such a plant is needed to purify the water before a typhoid season sets in.

Carl Zapffe presented the following petition to the board:

After Secretary Nelson read this petition the following resolution signed by Mons Mahlum and M. T.
Dunn was read:

To the president and members of the city council.
Gentlemen:—

Inasmuch as your honorable body has seen fit to decline to take such proceedings as is necessary to establish a power plant for light and water purposes, we would respectfully ask that you take such proceedings as in your judgment you deem necessary in consideration of the so-called Crow Wing proposition.

We feel that we should urge upon your body the necessity of incorporating in any contract made between the city and this concern a limitation of ten years duration, the rate, of course, to be 2 1/4 cents per kilowatt as embodied in the proposition, a copy of which we understand has been placed before you and also to thoroughly protect the city in the matter of being reimbursed for such excess as the city may be required to pay over the above rate for current furnished it, otherwise than through this Crow Wing concern after a period of 100 days from the date of making the contract.

Yours Truly,
MONS MAHLUM,
M. T. DUNN.

Attest:
WILLIAM NELSON, Secretary.

R. B. Smart presented his report to the board bearing his own signature. This report reads as follows:

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 23, 1910.
To the City Council, Brainerd, Minn.
Gentlemen:—

The undersigned members of the Water and Light board, do recommend to the city council, that the city council take the necessary steps to immediately install a temporary plant for the purpose of furnishing power for the city's lighting system.

We further recommend that the old street railway power plant be rented together with the boilers, engine, pump, and necessary fixtures for coupling up the same. We further recommend that the city council purchase such machinery as would be necessary to complete the plant.

The building, boilers, pump, necessary fittings, stack, etc, now in the street railway power house plant can be rented for $60.00 per month.

The machinery necessary to complete this plant could be installed for $2,500. This plant would then be able to take care of the immediate needs of the city with the exception of the peak load. Additional machinery could be installed if it is found necessary.

This plant if installed would result in a saving to the city of approximately $500.00 per month and would pay for the plant in the course of five or six months, at the present rates.

We further recommend that immediately following the installing of this temporary plant, the question of installing a permanent plant should be submitted to the people, to determine as to whether they wish to issue the necessary bonds for the purpose of building the permanent plant.

We believe it our duty as representatives of the people that they should have the opportunity of voting upon the question of installing a permanent power plant before the question of entering into any contract with a private party or corporation is considered.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) R. B. SMART.

Attest:
WILLIAM NELSON, Secretary.
On motion the board adjourned.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 28.—The city council met in special session last night. All councilmen were present.

A resolution was adopted to purchase the south 100 feet of lot eight in block eight for $1,000 and to erect a jail on said lot. A special election was ordered to be held on October 8, for the purpose of voting on this proposition. Hil-lary's hall will be used for the election.

An ordinance was adopted licensing peddlers at five dollars. Another ordinance licenses traveling shows from $1 to $5 per day. A resolution was adopted ordering additional cement sidewalks to be laid.

The contract for the construction of the jail was awarded to Greenlaw Hurst. It will be built according to the plans drawn by J. E. Nason, of Minneapolis, and will be of modern and the most approved style of construction. The floors and ceiling will be of reinforced cement. The two cells will be provided with steel doors. It will be absolutely fireproof.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Bobbie Blake" Tonight
"Bobbie Blake" will be presented tonight at the Brainerd opera house by 150 young people who have rehearsed diligently under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Harvey.
The proceeds of this play will go to the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

The young ladies and gentlemen who are presenting the play for the benefit of the church are all gladly donating their time and services as well as selling numerous tickets.
Every step taken in the way of the business part of the proceeding has been paid for. The opera house for this night is not donated, neither is the music. Both the hall and Gram-ham's orchestra will be paid as well as the advertising, display cards and other printing.

The young ladies and gentlemen have done everything possible to make this a successful play. The cast and the choruses have had frequent rehearsals. Seat prices have been set at 50 cents and 75 cents.
They extend a cordial invitation to everybody to attend the performance.

Woman as a Traveler.

When a woman who is traveling is assigned to her room in a hotel she looks up the hotel rules on the door and carefully reads them. When she comes to one as follows, "No washing of clothes permitted in this room," she gives a satisfied sigh. Then she unpacks her trunk, rings for hot water and within an hour has the mirror covered with handkerchiefs pasted there to dry, and has hose, underwear, waists, etc., hanging over the back of every chair. Then she gets out her diary and notes in it how much money she has saved. "There are said to be some very historic places in this town," she notes after detailing her wash, "but I will not have time to see them."—Atchison Globe.

A Wild Exploit.

A singular character was the spendthrift James Rhodes, who hung money up and down the Great White Way, in New York, for months. His crowning exploit occurred in London, where he went to finish a spree. Rhodes dropped into the Prince of Wales theater one evening while the orchestra was playing "God Save the King." From his box he ordered the leader to render the "Star Spangled Banner." The musician ignored him, and Rhodes drew a six shooter and began shooting out the lights. He went to jail for awhile. When, a little later, he returned to New York the remnants of his fortune had disappeared.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TRACING COUNTERFEITS.

Exciting Employment For Skilled Secret Service Men.

The tracing of counterfeit bills back to the persons responsible for their issue is a curious and exciting employment. The expert assigned by the government to this work are among the most skillful members of the secret service. The protection of the currency depends in large measure upon their efficiency, and the pains they take are almost infinite. The following case is one illustrating the difficulties which the secret service people meet and overcome:

A bank clerk in Cleveland had detected a counterfeit twenty dollar bill in the deposit of a small retail grocer. An expert was sent for and under took the case.

He found that the grocer had received the bill from a shoe dealer, who had it from a dentist, who had it from somebody else, and so on, until the secret service man finally traced the bad note to an invalid woman who had used it to pay her physician. When questioned this woman said that the money had been sent her by her brother, who lived in New Orleans.

The sleuth looked up the brother's antecedents and soon became convinced that he was the man wanted. The brother, however, soon proved to the satisfaction of the secret service man that his suspicions were unfounded. Indeed, it appeared that the money had been received by the New Orleans man in part payment for rent of a house he owned in Pittsburg. While the sleuth was a bit discouraged, he couldn't give over the case when he had gone so far, so he took the next train for Pittsburg.

The tenant of the house in Pittsburg proved to be a traveling oculist who spent most of his time in the middle west. The secret service man had the good luck, however, to catch him just as he had returned from a trip, and the man at once recognized the bad bill as one that had been given him by a patient in Cleveland, the very point whence the sleuth started.

The patient was a boss carpenter. The secret service man got his address from the oculist and went right after the new clew. At this point he had a premonition that something was going to happen, and he wasn't disappointed.

The carpenter, an honest old fellow, said that he had received the bill from a certain Parker. The said Parker was the small grocer in whose bank deposit the counterfeit had turned up. The expert drew to the grocer's as quickly as a cab could take him and found it closed. He had left town.

Afterward it was shown beyond question that the grocer was the agent of an organized band of counterfeiters. His shop was a mere blind. That the bill which he gave the carpenter should get back into his own funds after traveling all over the continent was one of those miracles of chance for which there is no explanation.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Interest In Ancient Days.

As a rule, the ancients frowned upon the idea of interest. They called it usury, and, except in the case of wardships and trusts, when the law insisted upon money being usefully invested they looked upon the man who lived by investments as a bad character and his trade as a disreputable one. Even Aristotle, a most advanced thinker in many respects, talked most energetically against money, calling it a "barren thing, which could produce nothing without violating nature." It was not until the crusades that the money lender had any standing or respectability in Europe.—New York American.

Sunday Traveling.

Old time acts of parliament in Great Britain aimed to stop Sunday traveling. In 1660, for example, two men were found guilty of the crime of walking from Bristol to Bath on a Sunday and were at once fined 20 shillings ($4.80) each. All business was at a standstill on a Sunday. Nothing was allowed to be sold except milk. For all the traders of England the milkman, and the milkman alone, was allowed to pursue his calling for the whole seven days of the week.

Stage Snow In Spring.

In a play called "1812," in which Napoleon's crossing of a frozen river is shown with snow falling, the last act shows an old soldier's return home. It is springtime, there are roses climbing up the cottage walls, the fruit trees are in bloom, and the old hero sits in a chair in a cozy room with all the windows open. But, much to the spectators' amusement, snow continued to fall not only outside the room, but inside it. The actor who played the old soldier noticed the audience's amusement, and to account for the snow he gagged. "Pay no attention to the snow," he said to his stage wife. "It's a habit I contracted in Russia."—London M. A. P.

DID HIS BEST.

He Followed Instructions, Yet the Result Was Very Discouraging.

There was a man who kept a small draper's shop and who had an assistant who was new to the business. One day an old lady came in and asked for some silk. The youthful assistant showed her some, saying:

"We can do this for you at 6s. 6d. a yard."

The master then came forward and said:

"I'm surprised at you showing this lady stuff of that quality. Take it away and put it back on its shelf." Then, turning to the customer, he said: "You must excuse my assistant, madam—he is new to the business. But if you will allow me I will show you something very superior."

He went away and returned, bringing the same piece of silk. "This, madam," he said, "is a very superior article, 10s. 6d. a yard. If it were not for the fact that I bought it some time ago we should have to charge you 15 shillings, for, as you are doubtless aware, owing to the recent epidemic among the silkworms the price of silk has increased enormously of late."

The customer took the silk, paid for it and went away. The draper thereupon lectured his assistant, saying: "You've no commercial adaptability. Mark my words and remember what I said for next time."

A few days later the draper was having his dinner, leaving his assistant at the counter. Hearing a noise, he looked out and saw the same old lady belting his assistant with her umbrella. He separated them and asked the assistant what he had been doing.

"Oh," said the assistant, "I was merely carrying out your instructions. She asked for some tape, and I showed her some. I said: 'We can let you have this at eightpence the dozen yards. If it wasn't for the fact that we have had it in stock some time we should have to charge 1 shilling, for, as you are doubtless aware, owing to the recent epidemic among the tapeworms the price of tape has gone up enormously of late.' Then she hit me with her umbrella."—Pearson's.

Mark Twain was once interviewed and promised the interviewer the story of his life. The journalist first asked, "What is your baptismal name?" and the author of "Tom Sawyer" replied that he feared he could not say exactly. The journalist was discomfited at this, and his face showed it. Then said the humorist: "I was a twin, and my brother and I, of course, received our respective names. One day they were giving us a bath, and one of us was drowned, and they never knew which of us it was."

Startled His Dad.

A stockbroker who had his new forty horsepower automobile delivered to him the other day decided to celebrate the occasion, the market being dull, says the New York Sun, by a run on the country roads. To be on the safe side on his gasoline supply he decided to stop at a garage to have the tank filled. As it was being measured out he turned to his son, a sturdy chap of six, who had followed him inside the garage, to impress upon him the danger of gasoline. Calling him by name, he said, "You would go straight to heaven if I put a match to that gasoline."

Looking his father straight in the eyes, the boy replied, "And where would you go, dad?"

Who Nero Was.

In the days when Sir Charles Gavan Duffy was a leading figure in Victorian politics there sat in the Melbourne parliament a wealthy but not well informed butcher. The chief secretary of the day was deprecating the attitude of the leader of the opposition, whose conduct was, he declared, worse than Nero's.

"Who was Nero?" interjected the knight of the clever, with equal scorn and sincerity.

"Who was Nero?" replied the delighted chief secretary. "The honorable gentleman ought to know. Nero was a celebrated Roman butcher."

She Sent It Back.

There has always been a lot of give and take in American women's social adventures in England. But a certain woman have spirit, and if they have taken a good deal they have given back still more.

An Englishwoman called on an American countess in Belgrave. "Oh, I thought you were out. That's why I called," the Englishwoman said in her sweet, clear, insolent English voice.

"Well, do you know, I thought I was out, too," the American replied. "My stupid man must have mistaken you for some one else."
